What is your impact on students of color? The first step to ensure all students benefit equitably from their school experience is to investigate the current reality. During this online inservice, participants will learn how to use a structured inquiry process to reveal areas in which unconscious bias may be contributing to racial disparities. A tool kit of techniques and strategies will be provided.

Participants will gain knowledge and skills in:

1. defining educational equity and why it matters,
2. using questions to uncover the racial climate in schools and in classrooms,
3. using inquiry to expose unconscious bias in academic programs and instructional practices.

This inservice is online from 1:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.
