Explore ways to make presentations more engaging and appealing. During this online inservice educators will learn about brain-based recommendations to capture and maintain attention. Discover templates and add-ons for quizzes, polls, and other interactive components to increase involvement. Participants will leave with ideas, resources, and suggestions that can be implemented immediately into presentations.

Participants will gain knowledge and skills in:

1. brain-based recommendations for making the most of visual and time elements,
2. specific digital tools to use to increase participant engagement.

Note: This inservice is geared for all levels of technology proficiency. Participants are encouraged to bring their own device and headphones with microphone to be able to fully explore the potential of the technology tools.

This inservice is from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.
